Hamlet Green 'to create 260 jobs'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MORE than 250 jobs could be on the way to Haverhill if plans for a new retail centre get the green light.

HPG Developments made the prediction this week as it released more details of its Hamlet Green project, a mix of retail and employment units it hopes to create in the town.

It gives estimates of where the new roles could be created on the 30-acre former Project Office Furniture site in Ehringshausen Way.

Plans unveiled by the Cambridge-based developers – which are due to be considered by St Edmundsbury Borough Council in the coming weeks – include a family restaurant with 30 jobs, a new bulky goods retailer with 66 positions, a warehouse/production outlet with 50 jobs and employment units which could create 115 positions, with 40 of those from new start-up businesses.

William Jewson, development director at HPG Developments, said: 'At this moment, the private sector needs to be doing all it can lead the recovery process.'

'Hamlet Green will be a vital boost for employment in Haverhill, providing a range of jobs to suit individual's needs and at every level, from managerial to school-leavers.'

Family goes back in time

A HAVERHILL family stepped back in time this week as contestants on the TV programme, Ben Fogle's Escape in Time.

In the series, families are challenged to become Victorian farmers on the Acton Scott Estate in Shropshire.

The Bray family, from Haverhill, were seen on the BBC2 programme this week and the show will conclude on Monday and Tuesday.

Christine Bray said: "We had such a great time making it when it was filmed last September.

"Meeting Ben Fogle was a highlight as he's such a charming man. We had great fun, I had to milk a cow. There is certainly a technique to it, but it is one I never mastered.

"The kids got a great deal out of it and have enjoyed seeing themselves on the telly. The other family were such fun too and we've remained friends since."

Viewers watched Christine, who works as a ranger in Haverhill's East Town Park, her husband Dave, who works at Genzyme, and daughters Jasmine and Melody, who both go to Burton End Primary.

The show can also be seen on BBC iPlayer.

On the road: Rachel Vestey and Suzy Harvey will take part in the Peking to Paris Motor Challenge later this year.

Sign up for holiday theatre

THE search is on for 50 of the most talented young people to join the Suffolk Youth Theatre Summer School this August.

In just one week of intense workshops and rehearsals, budding actors will devise and perform an original piece of theatre, fusing drama, music and dance. The summer school will be held at Northgate Arts Centre in Ipswich from August 2-6 and is open to anyone aged 13 and over. Many of the young people involved in the summer school study drama and performing arts at both GCSE and A-level and may go on to pursue these at degree level.

Each day begins at 9.30am and finishes at 4.30pm, and on Friday, August 6 the final performance takes place at 7pm.

The charge for the week is £50 per person.

Application forms can be obtained from Northgate Arts Centre on (01473) 281866 or by contacting: clare.shemming@suffolk.gov.uk

Streets focus of police questions

EIGHT Haverhill streets will be put under the spotlight to gauge residents' views on crime and anti-social behaviour.

A six-week Street A Week initiative will be launched by Haverhill Police on Monday, July 26, and officers will visit residents with detailed questionnaires to gather information about crime and disorder they may have witnessed and their perceptions about crime in the area.

Pc Will Wright, of Haverhill police, said the streets had already been selected and around 150 houses would be visited. The information gathered would be used to help target resources where they are needed most.

Drama time for young actors

IMPROVISATION-based drama workshops for youngsters will take place at Haverhill Leisure Centre.

The Haverhill School of Speech and Drama will be running the workshops on Saturday, July 24 and Saturday, July 31, from 11am to 1pm.

They are suitable for boys and girls aged 8 to 14 and the first will have an Alice in Wonderland theme.

The cost is £10 for two hours and places must be pre-booked on (01440) 714648.

Duo's trek from Peking to Paris

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Two adventurous women are preparing for a mammoth trek – driving from Peking to Paris in a 1930s car.

Mother-of-four Rachel Vestey, 46, and friend Suzy Harvey will share the driving in a yellow 1938 Chrysler Plymouth Sloper, and have been busy preparing the car for the journey.

But yesterday they waved goodbye to the vintage vehicle outside Rachel's home in Great Thurlow Hall as it is shipped off to China ready for the start of the Peking to Paris Motor Challenge in September.

The rally celebrated its 100th anniversary in 2007.

Rachel will leave behind husband George and children Ruby, 19, Tom, 17, Edmund, 15, and Richard, 12, when she heads off on the five-week trip.

She said: "The children have been amazing, they are very supportive."

Rachel spent her early years living in Australia and says she is used to the rough terrain they are expected to encounter along the way.

"I have always liked driving, but I have never done anything like this before. I saw it advertised two years ago and thought 'I am going to do that.'

"We are expecting it to be the trip of a lifetime."

The two women have spent the last few months learning about cars and are now able to change shock absorbers. They have had to receive a range of vaccinations and inoculations for the 14,000km route, which includes crossing the Gobi desert.

Rachel and Suzy, from Bishops Stortford, will be part of the major rally involving 25 nations and any money they raise will go to Cancer Research UK.

The rally leaves the Great Wall of China on September 11 and travels through Mongolia, Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan,

“I have always liked driving, but I have never done anything like this before. We are expecting it to be the trip of a lifetime.”

Rachel Vestey

Uzbekistan, Turkmenistan, Iran, Turkey, Greece and Italy.

The duo are expected to arrive in the centre of Paris in October. They believe there is only one other all-female team, which comes from Iran.

Site security beefed up after vandalism

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editor@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A BUILDING firm has had to step up security after repeated vandalism attacks at the site of a new school and after an allegation of assault on a security guard.

Guards with dogs are now patrolling the construction site in Greenfields Way, Haverhill, where police have received numerous complaints.

Builders Barnes Construction of Ipswich are building the New Clements Primary and have suffered persistent damage to fencing.

County councillor Graham Newman, portfolio holder for children, schools and young people's services, said: "There have been a number of incidents of vandalism at the site of the Clements Primary School development. Fencing has been knocked down and damaged and there have been a number of incidents of graffiti and vandalism to equipment and materials.

"Police have been making regular visits to the site during the day and every evening, and have given security advice.

"CCTV and movement detectors have been installed and security guards with dogs now patrol.

"This is adding cost to the project at a time when all budgets are extremely tight. In addition, time spent dealing with these mindless acts of vandalism is not being spent building a new primary school for the area. I urge those involved to consider their actions."

A police spokesman said officers had answered calls to youths damaging the fencing and rowdy behaviour at the site on July 4, 7 and 11.

A 15-year-old boy from Haverhill is helping police with their inquiries, which are ongoing.

A 19 year old has also been arrested on suspicion of assault, criminal damage and a public order offence at the site and has been bailed until August 24.

New helmets: the mayor with pupils at Castle Hill Middle School.

CP

Mayor presents cycle safety gear to pupils

PUPILS will ride their bicycles more safely thanks to a donation of helmets and bike lights by town mayor Elaine McManus.

Haverhill's mayor visited Castle Hill Middle School to present the cycling gear to pupils.

The School Sports Partnership has helped to find funding for more than 30 pupils this year to complete an eight-hour Bikeability course to encourage them to ride safely on the road.

Pupils thanked the mayor and asked her questions about her chain of office and her role in the community.

The Bikeability training scheme which will take place this week has run for two years with the support of community police.

Becky Baldwin, community cohesion team leader, said: "The safety of our pupils and staff is paramount.

"A number of the pupils who have received helmets today are older pupils who I have seen cycle on the road without a helmet. I have targeted these children and encouraged them to sign up for the Bikeability training.

"There are also members of our staff who have started to cycle to school and I have issued them with helmets to be positive role models.

"School Lane is a very busy road and I would like to make parents aware that there are now a number of pupils cycling around the area."

Jobs on way to retail site

"It will also provide much-needed bulky goods retail space designed to attract new non-high street retailers into the town and supplement the current retail offer, enabling it to compete more effectively with other centres such as Bury St Edmunds.

"We are urging local people and their elected representatives to get behind the proposals for Hamlet Green which will breathe new life into this vacant site, complement rather than compete with the town centre and, of course, provide much-needed employment opportunities."

The firm also claims Hamlet Green will create further job opportunities down the supply line, and during the construction phase.

The proposals for the project include new warehousing and business start-up units at the back of the site and a new builders' merchant, a family restaurant and four bulky retail warehousing units at the front.

But Haverhill Town Council has opposed the plan, saying it would damage the viability of the town centre.

It also says it does not comply with "national sequential testing", which requires sites nearest to town centres to be developed first.

However, the new coalition Government has recently abolished these planning rules.

Royal flavour to celebration for new gates

A TASTE of Royal Ascot, Kings and Queens and some lightening cocktail shaking can be seen as traders pull out the stops to celebrate the launch of new iconic gates at the ends of their street.

The unique leaf-shaped gates, designed by pupils at schools in Haverhill, will be unveiled at Queen Street at 1.30pm tomorrow.

The launch has been timed to coincide with the end of the school term and it is hoped as many people as possible of all ages will go and join in the celebration.

Matthew Hancock, MP, and Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, will help students from several schools to put the finishing touches to the striking new gates.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council funded the project and organised the launch event for the gates.

Sonia, who runs a hairdressing salon in Queen Street, rallied round other traders to add to the festivities, with a regal theme.

There will be outfits modelled fit for Royal Ascot, styled by Sonia and the Bridal Centre, Kings and Queens and face painting at C and B Beautiful, Leroy Rawlins from Bar Vu demonstrating his cocktail mixing skills outside Déjà Vu, Matt Brown juggling and stilt walking, balloons given away at Goldstar in Queens Square, plus more face painting by staff from Stepping Stones Playgroup.

Events will last until around 3.45pm, before the street re-opens to traffic at 4pm.

Access course opens doors for graduate

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THEOLOGY student Karen Shurety is off to the Holy Land to work.

She has just graduated from Cambridge University with a Bachelor of Theology for Ministry degree.

Karen completed the Access to Higher Education (Social Sciences) course at West Suffolk College in 2007 before studying for her degree in Cambridge.

Karen, 43, from Haverhill, said: "Five years ago I would never have thought it possible I would be graduating from Cambridge. It all began with The Access course I completed at West Suffolk College.

"My time at Cambridge has been truly life changing for me. There have been highs and lows, but I rose to the challenges. The nature of the Cambridge degree is very demanding and at times stressful but I was determined, having got this far, to stretch myself and give it all I could."

Karen is a Roman Catholic and says she gained a richness and a deepening of her faith through studying in an ecumenical setting alongside men and women who were training for ordained ministry.

Karen said: "My experience there allowed me the time and space to grow in formation for lay ministry in the Church. It is a truly amazing environment in which to live, study and pray."

Karen did not believe that she was capable of higher education, having left school in 1983 with only a few CSEs. The Access course "lit a flame within her".

She studied part-time over two years, combining her studies with a demanding job, voluntary work and the responsibilities of raising a family.

She said: "The Access course opened the door for me to study at Cambridge and now Cambridge has opened many doors to further my desire to work in an inter-faith discipline. I now have the opportunity to visit the Holy Land to work with The Sisters of Zion on their inter-faith dialogue programme.

"I can honestly say that doing the Access course changed my life. I have formed lasting friendships with other mature students and it has opened up avenues for me that would otherwise have been closed."

Volunteer club coach is voted outstanding

A STUDENT who voluntarily did 50 hours of coaching with a local sports club has been voted an outstanding youth leader by her school.

Katie Kingsbury is a Year 9 student at Samuel

Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill, which has established a young leadership academy.

One of the targets for the School Sports Partnership it belongs to is to develop leadership opportunities for young people.

Those students who are involved have to commit to helping in various sports clubs.

Katie contacted local sports coach Keith Limon and has managed to record 50 hours of coaching within his club.

She has been rewarded with a tracksuit bearing the leadership logo.

In total there are 40 students within the leadership academy.

Olympic dream: pupils from different schools taking part in a Mini Olympics at Castle Hill Middle School in Haverhill.

Pupils meet up to go for gold

PRIMARY school children found out what it is like to win a gold medal when they took part in a Mini Olympics.

Castle Hill Middle School, in Haverhill, hosted the event for three primary schools and nearly 150 pupils took part.

The aspiring Olympians came from Burton End, Place Farm and St Felix primary schools in Haverhill. Pupils from the three schools planned the event, the culmination of a year-long project based on the Olympic Games.

Although Clements were unable to attend, it in no way diminished the contribution they made to the project throughout the year.

The project was co-ordinated by Castle Hill teacher, Scott Reynolds. Pupils focused on various aspects of the Olympic Games including presenting their bid to the local mayor and head teachers during the autumn term.

Mr Reynolds said: "The main purpose of the project was to create greater cohesion between local primary schools and to boost key skills, including communication, group work and creativity."

For the duration of the project 12 pupils attended weekly sessions. Activities included composing an anthem, writing letters to Lord Sebastian Coe and creating a local Olympic logo. The skills which pupils acquired can be easily transferred into the classroom.

The Mini Olympics also created greater links with the Schools Sports Partnership and the organisation of the event was supported by Tony Dixon. Local sports leaders were used to lead different activities during the morning, including basketball, athletics and tennis.

The winners were Burton End Primary School who took home the Schools Sports Partnership pendant and Mini Olympics trophy.

MPs link up over turbines

TWO Suffolk MPs have joined forces to fight plans to create a wind farm in some of the most attractive countryside in their constituencies.

Tim Yeo and Matthew Hancock, MPs for South Suffolk and West Suffolk respectively, are uniting to oppose the proposal by BT to erect wind turbines near the boundary of their two constituencies outside Clare.

They said: "We believe that the visual and other impact of the proposed turbines is completely unacceptable in this attractive rural corner of Suffolk."

"We are not opposed to wind power in principle but turbines that can be seen from miles around should only be erected where they are acceptable to the communities affected."

The two MPs are inviting concerned members of the public to attend a meeting to be held at a convenient location on a date to be announced.

Jail for offender with long record

A PERSISTENT offender who has 18 previous convictions for 30 offences has been jailed.

Steven Manley, 24, admitted a public order offence and a charge of handling stolen property when he appeared at Sudbury magistrates court by video link yesterday. He was jailed for 16 weeks.

Magistrates were told he had been remanded in custody for the past 33 days and agreed this should be deducted from his sentence.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Hugh Davies, chairman of the bench, told Manley: "These offences are so serious that only a custodial sentence is justified."

"In the past there has been a total failure to respond to any non-custodial sentence, even a suspended sentence."

"You have a long record of offending going back to 2003. You are a persistent offender."

Wayne Ablett, prosecuting, said Manley, of Larks Close, Haverhill, had been one of a group of four people seen fighting at Corn Hill in Bury St Edmunds on June 1 and continued to shout and swear when police officers intervened.

On June 9 he was in a street in Bury St Edmunds with another man when he was seen by a police officer dropping an item on the ground.

He admitted dishonestly handling an iPod and a satellite navigation system, which had been taken from a car in the area.

Lyndon Davies, defending, said a lot of the dishonesty offences his client had committed in the past had been linked to his drug usage and he had been taking methadone at the time of these offences.

Mr Davies said: "He is trying to sort out his drug problem. He has de-toxed since he has been in custody and is far more lucid than before."

"He has at least done something useful while he has been in custody."

Store selling cheaper fuel

Sir, I called at Sainsbury's in Hadleigh Road in Ipswich on Saturday for petrol and I was surprised to find it was 7 pence a litre cheaper than in Haverhill. How can Sainsbury's warrant this when whichever store you go in all the food is the same price? I asked the chap this at the filling station and he said it was due to location but this is rubbish as the petrol all comes from the same supplier.

Charity strawberry tea a sweet success

LADIES trying to escape the football tucked into tasty treats at a strawberry tea in aid of Breast Cancer Care.

Sandra Johnson, who runs the Smartybags company selling Fair Trade handmade bags, opened up her home at Grenadier Road, Haverhill, for the event, which was one of many being run across the country.

A steady stream of customers called in during the afternoon and evening and Sainsbury's supported the effort by donating a voucher used towards the cost of the strawberries.

Sandra also went to Ladies Day at Ascot with some of her old friends from Basingstoke and held a raffle on the coach. With this cash, combined with proceeds from the strawberry tea, she raised £152 for the cancer charity.

Sandra said: "I was quite pleased and the ladies who came were very supportive. I achieved what I wanted to achieve, which was to raise some money for Breast Cancer Care. I did it because a very close friend of mine died from it nine years ago, so it is a cause close to my heart."

Anti-social behaviour top of list

TACKLING anti-social behaviour, especially around a fishing pond and on a housing estate, has been established as a top priority for police officers.

Following their recent community priority setting meeting, Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team has set new policing priorities for the area.

They are to tackle anti-social behaviour in and around the Newt Pond at School Lane, Haverhill, and in the area of Ickleton Place.

Recently the Newt Pond, which volunteers having been working to improve, was hit by vandals with graffiti and a bench thrown into the pond.

Members of the SNT welcome all to attend their regular public meetings to give views on local crime and policing.

The meetings allow local people to raise their concerns and help in setting priorities.

The next community priority setting meeting is being held on Thursday, August 12, at Haverhill Council Offices, Lower Downs Slade, from 2pm.

Details of all other engagement events can be found at www.saferuffolk.org.uk

Players 'robin' sandwiches

ROBIN Hood should feel right at home when his story is told in the grounds of Hedingham Castle this weekend.

The Cambridge Touring Theatre company production visits Castle Hedingham on Sunday, from 5-7pm, with tickets £10, £8 concessions.

It will later visit the East Town Park in Haverhill on Saturday, July 24, from 5-7pm, with tickets costing £7.50 for adults and £5 for children.

The show offers fun, family theatre at some of the most picturesque spots in the country, with players singing, dancing and stealing sandwiches from the audience.

Clothes and food stolen

A HOLDALL containing clothes and food was stolen from the back of a white Citroen Relay tipper truck.

The theft happened at Stoke Road, Clare, between 9am and 12.20pm on Thursday, July 1. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Kevin Horton at the St Edmundsbury Rural South Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100.

Undergrowth set alight

ARSONISTS are thought to have started a blaze at a nursing home on Monday.

Around 30 square metres of undergrowth and hedge was set alight in the grounds of Eastcotts Nursing Home, at Calford Green, near Haverhill.

Firefighters were called out shortly after 11.50am and police were needed to help control traffic.

Lead theft at building site

A ROLL of lead and two lead hoppers painted green have been stolen from a building site.

The theft happened at Hamlet Road, Haverhill, between midnight on Tuesday, July 6, and 8am on Monday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau (CIB) on (01473) 613500.

Arson attack on van

A WHITE Mercedes Sprinter van was been set alight in the street at Haverhill.

The arson attack happened at Chalkstone Way, Haverhill, at around 3.15am on Sunday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Mel Leaman at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100.

Computer games given to group

YOUNG adults with learning difficulties will be able to enjoy all the latest computer games thanks to a donation from their local town council.

Haverhill town clerk Gordon Mussett went along to the drop-in centre 'A Place to Talk' at Chalkstone Community Centre to hand over the latest Nintendo Wii system to the members.

Members aged 16 years and over attend the weekly sessions, which are run by the Suffolk Befriending Scheme. Two of its volunteers, Lee Barham and Val Page, were also presented with their platinum awards on the same occasion.

Myra Cawtheray, volunteer co-ordinator for the group, said they were very grateful for the town council donation.

She said: "This machine will hopefully appeal to most of the group. We do now rent the committee room which tends to be used mainly by our younger members, plus we run an evening group Befriender Club 2 every first and third Tuesday in the month. This is also mainly attended by our more young at heart members. This Wii machine will definitely be put to good use."

For more information about the group contact Myra on (01787) 371333.

Training centre to welcome MP

A TRAINING centre which has been given a £100,000 facelift will be officially opened by MP Matthew Hancock tomorrow.

The newly-refurbished training centre for MENTA, the Suffolk Enterprise Agency, in Hollands Road, Haverhill, will provide two new, fully-equipped training rooms and break out areas, as well as meeting rooms.

The centre represents a significant investment – well over £100,000 – by partners St Edmundsbury Borough Council, The East of England Development Agency and Suffolk County Council, and MENTA.

All facilities will be available for use by local businesses, and pricing will be competitive.

John Riley, chief executive of MENTA, said: "We have been working in Haverhill for many years, from our existing business centre, but it has been clear for a while that there is a need for an affordable and accessible training centre for local businesses, charities, voluntary groups and others to use.

"We have been delighted to work with St Edmundsbury Borough Council, which owns the building, and the other funding partners to make this a reality."

John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, will also be at the opening, along with other funders, friends and supporters of the project.

The Suffolk Enterprise Agency, has provided subsidised or free business support in Suffolk for more than 25 years.

It is a wholly independent, not-for-profit organisation, which helps people start new businesses, and helps existing ones to grow.

Appeal after two offer children sweets

A GROUP of children aged six and seven were offered sweets by teenagers who asked them to get into a car.

The group of six children were in the grounds of New Cangle Primary School at Chapple Drive, Haverhill, between noon and 1pm last Wednesday.

Two young men offered them sweets which they refused. The men then walked off along the old railway line.

The first man is described as white, 5 ft 2 ins tall, in his teens, of medium build with short brown hair and a tanned complexion and wearing green shoes. The second is described as white, in his teens, of medium build with short brown hair and wearing a pink T-shirt, blue trousers and white trainers. Both carried black rucksacks.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Dan Steel at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Vandals glue kiosk locks

LOCKS have been glued at a kiosk on a recreation ground twice in two weeks.

The damage has been caused at the recreation ground in Camps Road, Haverhill, between 6pm on Friday, July 2, and 10am last Saturday.

Calls in relation to these incidents should be made to Pc Cris Reynolds at Haverhill police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

STUDENTS are helping a company to create a special on-line museum as part of its 250th anniversary celebrations.

Haverhill company The Herbert Group, which is a major supplier of weighing machines to supermarkets, is 250 years old this year.

To help celebrate the event, a group of Year 9 pupils from the Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College have helped to create a special on-line museum using rare exhibits from the company's archive.

The project called, "Down our Weigh" was supported by a grant from the Young Roots programme of the Heritage Lottery Fund.

Project co-ordinator Mike Levy, of Cambridge-based Keystage Company, said: "The young people from Samuel Ward have learnt such a lot about the company."

"We have been meeting each

Looking forward to seeing website: Richard Herbert.

Wednesday after school and the students have been exploring but a small selection of the huge archive of materials held by the company.

"They were particularly thrilled to handle an original pair of hand scales from the 18th century, explore the names on a commemorative tankard from 1889 and enjoy going through very old catalogues and photographs.

"They are working with me and Jason Fitzpatrick of Pure Energy on choosing which exhibits to photograph and put on to the specially designed website."

One old photograph shows the first works outing – to a pub in Chigwell in the late 1860s. The staff would have gone by horse-pulled omnibus and spent a pleasant day having lunch and a few beers.

The students learnt about the time Herberts moved from London to Haverhill in 1968, interviewed former employees and made several visits to the company to explore the large archive of old scales, documents, photographs and artefacts.

Richard Herbert, chairman of the Herbert Group, said: "It is very satisfying to know that the young people take such an interest in our history which indeed is really part of their own. We are looking forward to seeing the site in action in a few weeks time."

Hospital gets new equipment

PATIENT safety at a hospital has been given a £300,000 boost following an investment in equipment for administering intravenous fluids and drugs.

A total of 260 new hi-tech intravenous infusion pumps have been purchased for use across West Suffolk Hospital and will be in place by the end of July.

They include two different pumps – a syringe driver, used to accurately administer concentrated intravenous medicines, and a pump which administers intravenous fluids and blood.

More cost-effective than the older models, the pumps are easy to operate. In addition, their introduction will help strengthen patient safety still further as they can be pre-programmed with details of drug dosages and volumes.

Nichole Day, executive chief nurse, said: "These new pumps are a significant investment for the trust and will make a big difference to patients and staff alike."

Free soccer sessions in holidays

FREE football sessions for youngsters will be starting up again during the summer holidays.

Ipswich Town Community Trust has teamed again with Havebury Housing Partnership to offer a free healthy lifestyle programme and football sessions to youngsters aged between 11 and 14 years who live in the Borough of St Edmundsbury.

The 'Healthy Havebury' project offers the youngsters six one-hour sessions, which include a weekly 20-minute healthy lifestyle workshop and a 40-minute football session led by FA qualified Community Trust coaches.

Sessions will be taking place between July 21 and August 26 at Abbeycroft Leisure Centre, Haverhill, and in Bury St Edmunds.

September will see the Community Trust welcome Havebury Housing Partnership and all the families who have been involved with the project to Portman Road for a fun day.

An application pack containing a full list of training dates is available at www.havebury.com or call Ellie Darling at Havebury on (01284) 722033.

Basketball star launches leisure facilities

Launched: James Purkiss, assistant manager at Haverhill Leisure Centre, with Caroline Maclean. CP

NEW facilities for people with disabilities have been opened at a leisure centre by a local athlete who plays for the British wheelchair basketball team.

Caroline Maclean helped Abbeycroft Leisure launch its new expanded facilities at Haverhill Leisure Centre, which were funded with £7,300 from Activities Limited.

This is a service started by Suffolk County Council to set up short breaks and activities for children and young people who are disabled or have additional needs.

A new specially-adapted table tennis table for people with disabilities, Polybat equipment (an adapted version of table tennis), a disability changing bed and hoist, have been purchased with the funding. It means that people with disabilities will be able to change more easily for the pool and dryside activities and, for the first time, take part in a new multi-sport club at the centre.

Caroline, who has competed in Paralympic Games in Sydney, Athens and Beijing, was the first to see the new specially-adapted table tennis table for people with disabilities before heading off to compete in the World Indoor Wheelchair Basketball Championships in Birmingham.

Caroline said: "The extra facilities are really good and it is great to see extra funding to provide different facilities such as table tennis for wheelchair users."

Sports development officer Amelia Epton said the leisure centre provides facilities for the disabled but the project has allowed the centre to expand that provision.

She said: "The new specially-adapted table tennis table is a fantastic addition to the centre and I know many of our users are looking forward to be able to take part in this activity for the first time in Haverhill."

The centre runs a Tuesday Club for adults with disabilities and additional needs, a session which aims to encourage youngsters aged five to 15 with disabilities to participate in sport. Call (01440) 702548 for more information.

Guides need more leaders

GIRL Guides are celebrating an excellent retention of members during their centenary year and are looking for more leaders to help out.

Haverhill Girl Guiding Association is pleased that girls joining up in the town are staying on, but this means they need extra leaders to boost units. Brownie Guider Barbara Adshead said: "This is a great opportunity for ladies over 18 to join in the fun and also looks good on your CV. We are currently looking for enthusiastic ladies who will give up a few hours a week to become part of this growing organisation."

"Guiding in 2010 is not all about knots and knitting and we can guarantee a lot of fun and friendship." A special evening was held this week at the Burton Centre in Camps Road and anyone wants further information on the Guides can call Barbara on (01440) 710875.

Brigade hosts breakfast

YOUNGSTERS who would like to find out about the amazing things going on at their local Boys Brigade can go along to a special breakfast event.

First Haverhill Boys Brigade is holding the event on Saturday at 8am at the Drabbet Smock pub. The group is part of the Old Independent Church in Haverhill and aims to care for and challenge young people through a fun programme, underpinned by the Christian faith. There is no need to book, just turn up, or call (01223) 565801 for more information.

Hunt is on for Gerard

TWO young children are heartbroken after their family cat went missing from home.

Gerard, a two-year-old neutered tabby who is micro-chipped, was last seen at his home in Blair Parade, Haverhill, early on June 4. Owner Kelly said the cat is very nervous and normally will not go to strangers. Her children Bobby, four, and Ella, five, are missing the pet and if anyone can help find him, they should call 07789 164261.

Views sought on Hanchett End Business Park Concept Statement

At the current time, St Edmundsbury Borough Council is seeking local views on the future of a key Haverhill site. The land at Hanchett End, located next to the Spirit of Enterprise roundabout, has been identified for employment use for a number of years and the Council is now consulting on the way in which it should be developed.

Importantly, the Council is seeking the views of the public by the 30 July.

Why is the land at Hanchett End important to the town?

The land at Hanchett End is important to the town and its future as it occupies a strategic location at the entrance to Haverhill when approaching from Cambridge. As a result, the site presents an unrivalled opportunity to develop and create an attractive gateway to Haverhill as part of the wider vision that exists for the town.

Carisbrooke, responsible for the Haverhill Business Park, now has controlling interests in this important site and is working with and on behalf of the landowner to progress the land and future plans through the planning and development process.

The current situation

The Council has set out its views on how the land at Hanchett End should be developed through the publication of a document – the draft Concept Statement for the Hanchett End Strategic Employment Site. As the site has already been identified for development with employment uses, a Concept Statement is now required to be produced, which will be used to inform the creation of a future master plan. The Council's draft Concept Statement has outlined that any master plan that is produced will need to include:

- Light industrial, research and office use (i.e. B1 uses only)
- Units for new and small firms involved in high technology and related activities
- Low density development with extensive landscaping

As a result of its interests, Carisbrooke is therefore keen to ensure that an appropriate Concept Statement is finalised from which to create a viable and successful development which meets the aspirations of all involved.

Copies of the draft Concept Statement can now be viewed on the Council's website – www.stedmundsbury.gov.uk/sebc/live/concept-statements-and-masterplans.cfm#hanchett or by visiting the Council offices in Haverhill.

Carisbrooke's position on the draft Concept Statement

Carisbrooke recognises the important opportunity that the site presents to the town but is keen to highlight a number of important factors that should be considered in respect of the draft Concept Statement and the site's future development.

- The first important factor is the significant cost associated with the physical development of the site, which results from the substantial earthmoving necessary to create development platforms and introducing services such as electricity, gas, telecoms and drainage. To this end, certainty is needed that a viable development can be progressed, which will enable the significant costs associated with any project to be absorbed.
- It should be acknowledged that with the site identified for development with business (known as the B1 Use Class), storage and distribution uses (known as the B8 Use Class), it is vital to recognise the lack of a well-established market for the first of these and that the creation of a new research/business park would therefore require a 'leap of faith' on the part of investors and end-users.
- The current draft Concept Statement does not include the economically viable B8 uses but instead solely references the business uses which are not viable as the only form of development on the site. As a result, there is no certainty to Carisbrooke that it can deliver a successful and viable development which meets the aspirations of the Council to achieve a new research/business park and thereby create the gateway wished for.
- To a certain extent, the plan within the draft Concept Statement acknowledges this problem by alluding to the need for 'higher value uses' to be included in order to make the B1 employment development viable. However, Carisbrooke considers the draft Concept Statement needs to be more explicit and identify the extent and type of higher value uses that would be acceptable. Carisbrooke's view is one third of the site should be made over to higher value uses such as residential and retail.

More information about the site and Carisbrooke's views can be found at:

Carisbrooke's covenant to the community – mutual commitment

Subject to receiving the inclusion of one third higher values uses within the draft Concept Statement, Carisbrooke would commit by way of legal agreement to losing the right and ability to develop any storage, distribution or other warehouse type development. Carisbrooke would then commit via further legal agreement to the remaining two thirds of the development being delivered only in the form of office, R & D, light industrial and supporting uses.

Furthermore, the entire infrastructure and environment would be delivered at the same time as any agreements reached over the occupancy of the higher value uses, ensuring that the research park is finalised at the earliest opportunity for all prospective occupiers and the community to see.

How to make your comments known to the Council

Should you be interested in contributing to the way in which this important site is finally developed in the future, you can lodge your comments on the draft Concept Statement with the Council by:

- Completing a response form available from the Council's own website under the masterplans and policies page. This form can either be completed and submitted electronically or via the post.
- By emailing – LDF@stedsbc.gov.uk
- By telephoning the Council's Planning Policy team on 01284 757352

Questions or further information

Should you have any questions about the site or Carisbrooke's views on its future development, please do not hesitate to contact the team on 0800 298 7040 or visit the website at www.haverhillresearchpark.com.

PUSHING her beautiful new baby along in the pram, Gemma Adams couldn't wait to show off her bundle of joy. And people were constantly stopping her to coo over little Ben. But all of them – even complete strangers – asked 'What's wrong? What's he done to his face?' . .

"Ever since he was born, from the very first day, we haven't been able to leave the house without someone asking that question," admits Gemma. "When he was tiny they'd say 'What a lovely baby! Oooh – what's he done to his face?' To me, he was my little boy and I didn't care what he looked like.

"I understand that people don't know and most of the time I'll answer the question. But if it's the sixth time I've been asked in the last half hour, I try to just ignore it; what I really want to say is 'Oh, I threw him down the stairs' to see how they like being made to feel uncomfortable.

"Ben is just like any other little boy. He's handsome, he's happy, he's sociable – he just happens to have a birthmark on his face."

Ben, now 5, has a vascular birthmark. A malformation of blood vessels, which occurs for no known reason, vascular birthmarks can be flat or raised, pink, red or even bluish in colour.

They're pretty common: three in 100 babies are born with them. But Ben's birthmark is a very rare type, which affects only one in 40,000 people. It started out looking like a pale purplish bruise across his cheek and lip; as he grew, the birthmark grew too – becoming sore and swollen. Two rounds of painful surgery followed.

If it was left unchecked, the mark would continue to grow and grow; in some cases, where major blood vessels are involved, vascular birthmarks can lead to disability or even death. In that respect, Ben is one of the lucky ones, because his mark is not in a dangerous place. But coping with it is, says Gemma, still very tough at times.

"When he was about 18 months old a woman stopped me in Tesco and said 'What's he done to his face?," she remembers. "People can be so rude! I can't imagine stopping a complete stranger to ask something like that . .

"Anyway, when I explained, she went on to say 'Oh, you can get lots of make-up to cover that up.' I said 'Well I'm sorry but I don't want to cover it up. He's my son and it's part of him.'"

Gemma, who lives in Godmanchester, says she always wanted to be a mum. "I think most little girls do, don't they? They want to grow up, get married and have a family of their own," she adds.

Falling pregnant soon after she and husband Mark decided to try for a baby, Gemma says they were both thrilled. "I was really well: I wasn't sick or anything," she recalls, "and the labour was over in eight hours.

"When Ben was born the nurse said he had a bit of bruising on his face from where he'd got a little bit stuck. We just accepted what she said."

But, by Ben's six-week check, the purplish shadow on his cheek and lip hadn't faded. "The health visitor said 'If it was a bruise, it would have gone by now – I don't know what it is,'" Gemma continues. "It was awful: we'd gone along with the idea it was bruising; to think it was something else, something unknown, was horrible."

Referred to hospital, Gemma says that first appointment was 'very upsetting'. The doctor said 'It's not a bruise. I don't know what it is' and that was it, no 'This is the next step' or 'I'll refer you to my colleague,' she explains.

The next stop, a few weeks later, was Addenbrooke's in Cambridge, where specialist Tariq Ahmad made an instant diagnosis. "He was amazing," continues Gemma. "He said 'It's a vascular birthmark, a type of venous malformation, and it will continue to grow unless we intervene'. It was still scary – but at least we knew what we were dealing with."

Ben was given regular check-ups; as predicted, the mark continued to grow. By the age of three, his lip was so distended it became prone to ulceration and bleeding. That's when Mr Ahmad decided to operate.

Under general anaesthetic, Ben was given a series of special injections direct into the mark, designed to flush out the underlying veins and relieve any blockages. He was, smiles Gemma, a model patient; the hardest thing was persuading him not to suck his thumb straight after the op. But, sadly, the procedure didn't have the desired effect. So, three months later, Ben was scheduled for surgery again – this time to cut away several sections of venous tissue.

That trip to hospital was, Gemma adds, 'a nightmare'. "We've always been very honest, so we'd explained he had to go back to hospital. But the minute we got in there his little face was petrified... He totally freaked out, screaming and kicking. They put a canula in and he was trying to rip it out."

Eventually, Ben was sedated while sitting on his daddy's lap. And the surgery was a great success: although his mouth was full of stitches, the swelling in Ben's lip was dramatically reduced.

Gemma says it took about six months for Ben to recover. And, in that time, he lost a lot of weight. "He was only allowed soft food to start with," she explains. "I was trying to tempt him with yoghurt and smoothies when what he really wanted was toast."

"And when he did eat it was painful, so he stopped wanting to eat. By the time his mouth was healing, he'd stopped feeling hungry. As an adult, you can tell yourself you have to eat: it's not the same when you're a little boy."

When Gemma got pregnant with Dominic, 2, Ben's little brother, she admits worrying he too could be born with a vascular birthmark. "As a mum you can't help yourself. I knew there was no explanation for Ben's mark but I still kept asking myself 'Was it this? Was it that? ... In the end I convinced myself it was down to him sucking his thumb when he was in the womb. I went to see Tariq and he said 'No, it wasn't. Stop worrying.'"

Dominic, who doesn't have a birthmark, was a big hit with his older brother; Gemma says Ben dotes on him. "Ben is such a friendly little boy," she adds. "If we go to a play barn or something he's off on his own straight away – and 10 minutes later he's back, with 10 new friends."

Before Ben started school, Gemma visited his teachers to explain about his birthmark. "I wanted everyone to know about his birthmark so it would be treated as something normal."

"Ever since he was really little, we've talked about Ben's birthmark: we used to stand in front of the mirror and say 'Here are your eyes, there's your nose, and this is your birthmark'. But he's just starting to realise that his face looks a bit different. He asked the other day 'Why have I got it?' and I said 'Your friends have got them too, but you just can't see them – I've got a little one on my tummy' and he seemed quite happy with that."

Gemma says Ben settled in well at school socially and academically. But his eating continued to be a problem: he was coming home at the end of the day with a still-full lunchbox.

"I got to the point where you could see his ribs and his back bone," she continues. "My mum broke down in tears and said 'This has got to be sorted'. I had to get tough. I told Ben he was going to have a drink of milk every morning and night and that if he didn't eat his lunch at lunchtime he'd have to eat it when he got home. He only ate it at home, warm from sitting in the box all day, two or three times..."

Gemma says support from family, friends and the national Birthmark Support Group has been invaluable. Through the group, she has been able to talk to other mums – and Ben has been able to meet other little boys and girls who, like him, have visible birthmarks.

"He hadn't ever seen anyone else with a mark like his until we went to a special family fun day for members of the group," explains Gemma. "And even then he didn't notice until we pointed it out."

Gemma, a part-time PA at Huntingdon Regional College, has just become membership secretary of the group on a voluntary basis. And she's just completed the annual Walk for Skin: organised by the British Skin Foundation (BSF), it's a sponsored 5k across London held to raise cash for skin disease research.

Gemma did the walk with three friends: Yvette Reed, Linda Roberts and Debbie Doyle. "They've all known Ben all his life and have been there for those cringe moments when people ask 'What's he done to his face?'"

So far Gemma has raised £750. She is splitting the money between the BSF and the Birthmark Support Group, which needs funds for further family events and visits from specialist doctors and nurses.

Gemma admits she worries about how Ben will cope with his mark in the future; within months of the successful surgery, it had grown back to its pre-op size. But Ben has just been accepted for treatment at a hospital in Middlesbrough, which involves an anti-cancer drug being injected into the birthmark (designed to prevent the proliferation of cancer cells, it is hoped to halt the expansion of the venous tissue).

As well as raising cash, Gemma is keen to raise awareness – which is why she decided to do this interview. "I feel that people can be quite ignorant about things that don't affect them directly. People really need to get clued up about birthmarks – and realise my Ben is no different to anyone else."

County could 'lead the way'

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MPS IN Suffolk are calling on businesses and communities in the county to form a local partnership to take back power from Westminster.

In an open letter, the MPs have urged them to take power from the Regional Development Agency.

Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg has announced plans to scrap these agencies and has established a £1 billion regional growth fund from which local communities can bid for funding.

Business Secretary Vince Cable and Communities Secretary Eric Pickles have written to local authorities and businesses asking them to consider forming new Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs), who can then apply for funding from the growth fund for their area.

The LEPs are intended to provide strategic leadership in local areas and create the right environment for business success and economic growth, and the Suffolk MPs believe that the county could lead the way by establishing an LEP.

The MPs said: "Suffolk has so much to offer, and with this announcement there is great scope for innovation and fresh thinking. This represents a real and tangible chance for the people of Suffolk to determine for themselves the future and the success of the county, rather than relying on unelected quangos and adhering to strict centrally-set, one-size-fits-all policies.

"Forming LEPs is an important part of the Government's intention to hand back power to local communities and we believe that the new LEPs could play a vital role in the continued growth and success of Suffolk."

The letter states that the intention of the Coalition Government is to "rebalance the economy towards the private sector" and encourages councils and businesses to think about ways to tackle issues including housing and planning, local transport and infrastructure, and employment and enterprise.

Parties interested in forming local enterprise partnerships should submit outline proposals by September 6 to: Local Enterprise Partnerships, Economic Development Directorate, Department for Business, Innovation and Skills, 1 Victoria St, SW1H 0ET or by emailing: localenterprisepartnerships@bis.gsi.gov.uk

Lisa keeps town pub local

WHEN barmaid Lisa Smith found out the landlord of the pub where she worked was leaving she decided to take over at the helm herself.

Regulars at the 17th Century pub The Globe in Clare have welcomed her familiar face as the pub's new manager.

When Lisa found out that the previous landlord was planning to sell the lease she was heartbroken because she did not want to see the pub managed by someone living outside of the town where she grew up. So Lisa, with support from her husband Sean, took over as manager.

Lisa, who has worked as a barmaid at the pub in Callis Street for seven years, said: "The landlord Jim Bareham is Clare born and bred and so am I and I didn't want to see the pub managed by someone from outside the town. The regulars are very pleased that a local 'Clare girl' has taken over the management. It doesn't feel all that different being manager as I have been part of the pub and the local community for so long.

"The pub will be run the same as it always has been with good food and a very friendly welcoming atmosphere."

Lisa has already set about organising some events for the local community at the pub including a ladies' pamper evening next Friday to raise funds for Allsorts Parent and Toddler Group in Clare.

Welcoming: Lisa Smith has taken over management of one of Clare's oldest pubs with support from husband Sean. CP

The pub has also introduced friendly in-house games of darts on Friday nights for all ages and abilities, including games of killer, golf, and cricket.

Free event for cancer survivors

CANCER survivors in West Suffolk are invited to attend a 'Celebrating Life After Cancer' event.

Organised by volunteers at the Macmillan Information Centre at West Suffolk Hospital, the free event will be held at the hospital's education centre on Saturday, September 18.

Wendy Marchant, Macmillan information service manager, said: "More and more people are living with and beyond a diagnosis of cancer.

"The effects on a person and their family can be far reaching and the programme for the day reflects this. There will be speakers who have had cancer themselves and who will be talking about their experiences of life after cancer as well as workshops and information about the issues people face in the longer term."

Topics and information displays will reflect not only the physical health and wellbeing of people affected but also the social, financial and emotional issues.

The topics and sessions on the day include: volunteering, returning to work, healthy eating, complementary therapies, yoga, relaxation, dress and colour and massage.

For more information or an application form contact the Macmillan Information Centre on (01284) 713023. Wendy Marchant or the Macmillan information volunteers will be happy to talk to you.

If you would like to bring along a partner or friend on the day they would be welcome.

Anyone who is unable to attend the day but would like more information about life after a cancer diagnosis, should telephone or drop in at the Macmillan Information Centre (no appointment necessary) at West Suffolk Hospital.

The centre is open from 8.30am until 4.30pm, Monday to Friday (excluding bank holidays). There is a voicemail service to leave your name and a contact number and someone will return your call as soon as possible.

Wonders of the world arrive for city celebration

EVERY summer for the past five years, the Heart of the World Festival has taken over Cambridge, bringing two weeks of music and culture from across the world.

Throughout July, everyone has the opportunity to celebrate the city's cultural diversity. Offering everything from Ghanaian trance music to Chinese circus skills, Congolese rumba to Tanzanian drumming, this festival rejoices in diversity.

Aiming to raise the profile of the diversity of Cambridge's culture, the Heart of the World Festival began in 2006 as a collaboration between promoters and Cambridge venues, with Arts Council funding. In its first year, the festival focused on the cultures of South Africa, India, West Africa and New Orleans. Venues across the city held talks, exhibited films, art and photography displays, offered children's workshops and opened the doors to many artists famous on the world music scene. Previous headline acts have included Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Malian singer Salif Keita and Kaushiki Chakrabarty from India. A crowd of Tibetan Monks have even performed a 'mandala' – a historic Buddhist ceremony – in the unlikely but nonetheless impressive surroundings of King's College.

Since its inception, the festival has gone from strength to strength and is now firmly established as one of Cambridge's most colourful and exciting summertime events. People from far and wide head to the city for this fortnight of cultural exploration. This year's programme, filled to the brim with music, films, exhibitions, performances and club nights, is sure to impress once again.

2010's Heart of the World Festival kicked off last weekend on Parker's Piece but Cambridge will continue to come alive with music and events across the whole city.

One of the festival's many highlights includes a performance from Jassi Siddhu, a name synonymous with the increasing popularity of Bhangra music, at the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Monday.

Other stand-out musical performances include Koby Israelite Band and Gipsydella, bringing their blend of gypsy funk and accordion rock to The Junction tonight. Ghanaian acoustic trance act Shango will be gracing the stage with their colourful and energetic show on Friday, July 23.

Live music is far from all that is on offer from the Heart of the World Festival. The Fountain on Regent Street will be transformed into a global dance floor tomorrow, while Anglia Ruskin University hosts language taster sessions and harmonica workshops today and Saturday respectively. Hamba Lulu sees Tanzanian song and dance at Stapleford Church, also on Saturday, combined with elements of the English choral tradition.

The cinematic highlight of the festival comes in the form of a fascinating documentary on the French/Spanish band Manu Chao as they tour South America. Although less well-known in English speaking countries, Manu Chao is one of the biggest selling artists in the world, using the French, Spanish, Arabic, Galician, Portuguese, English, Italian, and Wolof languages interchangeably. Manu Chao Gira Mundo Tour will be shown on Wednesday, July 21, at Alliance Francaise, 60 Hills Road, Cambridge.

Cambridge's Heart of the World Festival promises a fantastic celebration of culture from every corner of the earth. Expect a wealth of sounds, smells, sights and colours from across the globe to broaden your view of cultural diversity.

Big laughs and baggy trousers

CAN'T get to the Edinburgh Festival but would love to see the top acts try out their latest material?

Look no further – Jon Richardson and Kevin Bridges will have their guns blazing from 8pm tomorrow at Haverhill Arts Centre. Give your chuckle muscles some exercise, tickets are £10, but Monkey Nuts members can come along for £7.50.

■ If you love West End shows, Musicals in Motion 2 on Sunday at 6pm will be right up your street. Seasoned West End performers Jem Brent and Rachel Slater perform songs from popular musicals such as Phantom of the Opera, Copacabana, Me And My Girl, We Will Rock You plus a hilarious tribute to ABBA.

With the help of a huge projection screen, clever lighting and perfect timing they seamlessly interact with their supporting "virtual" cast.

■ To celebrate 50 years of education on the Castle Manor site, Castle Manor Players will present a special high energy musical, Our House, next Tuesday at 7.30pm.

The evening will feature songs from the band Madness, including Our House, Baggy Trousers, Night Boat To Cairo and It Must Be Love.

■ Unfortunately, for reasons beyond the arts centre's control, Emo Phillips will not appear on Friday, July 23.

■ Satire Four Lions (15), screening tonight at 7.45pm, follows four Islamic terrorists from the north of England, and depicts their transition from boisterous radicals to would-be suicide bombers.

■ Sex and the City 2 (15) picks up Carrie's rollercoaster fairytale two years into her marriage to Mr Big and yes, you guessed it, there is trouble brewing. It's on next Thursday at 7.45pm.

■ For more details, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Spend summer in the garden with Bard's favourite players

It's a Shakespeare-filled summer in Cambridge this year, with outdoor performances of some of the playwright's greatest works.

First up, six university college gardens have been transformed into magical stages for two comedies and a tragedy, which run until July 31.

The central gardens of Downing College will be taken over by the King of Navarre and his seemingly chaste noble companions in fast-paced comedy, Love's Labour's Lost.

The battle of the sexes continues over at St John's College as Petruchio and Kate pit their wits against each other in The Taming Of The Shrew in the stunning Scholar's Garden.

And a tale far less whimsical in its nature is presented in the atmospheric amphitheatre of Robinson College.

Hamlet, perhaps Shakespeare's most enduring play, sees the young protagonist on a quest for the truth behind the death of his father.

Summer with the Bard: in gardens across Cambridge.

CP

August continues in a similar vein, as Henry V faces unrest, invasion and nothing but disdain from his people in the gripping drama in the Fellow's Garden at King's College, set in the early part of the 15th century from August 2-21.

Comedy and romance is brought to Trinity College Gardens by the fantastically capricious As You Like It (August 2-21), while Twelfth Night sees further tales of lustful mistaken identity (August 2-28) at Robinson College Gardens.

Every Saturday of the eight-week period includes a special charity matinee performance, with proceeds going to the children's hospice in Milton, as well as St John's Hospice on the Wirral.

■ Cambridge Shakespeare Festival, July 12-Aug 28 at Cambridge University College Gardens. Tickets £14 (£10 concessions) and shows start at 7.30pm. Contact (01223) 357851/www.cambridgeshakespeare.com

THERE'S no need to trek to London's South Bank as a slice of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre comes to Cambridge, courtesy of Cambridge Arts Theatre.

The internationally-renowned Shakespeare's Globe On Tour will perform an exciting double bill of high-energy, open-air versions of the Bard's finest plays in The Master's Garden of Emmanuel College.

The Comedy of Errors sees a pair of estranged twins and a pair of twin servants thrown into a city with a reputation for sorcery, and theatrical chaos ensues in this fast, delightfully anarchic play, from July 13-18.

And who can resist the fun and frolics of A Midsummer Night's Dream (August 10-15), with its tales of intertwined love and lust, and a sprinkling of fairy dust.

■ Shakespeare's Globe, Emmanuel College, July 13-Aug 15. Tickets are £15. Call the Cambridge Arts Theatre box office on (01223)

CHAPTERHOUSE Theatre Company is bringing its own take on Shakespeare's comedies to Milton Country Park in August.

The professional touring theatre company performs at more than 130 locations around the UK as part of its garden theatre season.

First to take to the boards is Much Ado About Nothing (August 3 at 7pm). Audiences can enjoy Shakespeare at his merry best as they soak up the summer sunshine with family and friends and enjoy this light-hearted love story.

The fantasy continues on August 20 at 6.30pm as Chapterhouse perform A Midsummer Night's Dream – a tale perfect for balmy summer evenings in the calm surroundings of the country park.

Prepare to be whisked away into the magical Athenian forest as this tale is brought alive with magnificent costumes and sets, plus a wonderful musical score.

The big film

THE TWILIGHT SAGA: ECLIPSE (12A, 123 mins) Action. Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson, Taylor Lautner, Billy Burke, Xavier Samuel, Bryce Dallas Howard, Peter Facinelli, Elizabeth Reaser, Ashley Greene, Jackson Rathbone, Kellan Lutz, Nikki Reed, Dakota Fanning. Director: David Slade.

THE tug-of-war for the affections of Bella Swan (Kristen Stewart) reaches a crucial juncture in the latest film based on Stephenie Meyer's teen romances.

In the same way that the film version of Harry Potter And The Prisoner Of Azkaban was the darkest and most satisfying instalment of its series, this third helping of brooding vampires and snarling werewolves is the most entertaining to date.

Director David Slade deserves some of the credit, cranking up the tension between suitors Edward and Jacob against a backdrop of impending war between rival bloodsucking factions.

The cast have also settled into their iconic roles and Pattinson, especially, runs the gamut of emotions as his fanged hunk risks losing his soulmate.

Screenwriter Melissa Rosenberg retains most of Meyer's book, including a sexually charged stand-off in a tent.

Graduation approaches for Bella, and the teen must choose between Edward (Pattinson), the vampire who won her heart, and Jacob (Lautner), the best friend who has snuck into her affections.

Rejection for one could potentially ignite the ancient rivalry between the lycans and the bloodsuckers.

Meanwhile, Victoria (Howard) returns to Forks, Washington, to kill Bella in revenge for Edward's slaying of her lover. The avenger brings with her a new race of vampires with phenomenal strength, led by local boy Riley (Samuel), and only the combined forces of sworn enemies, the Cullens and the Blacks, can stop these ferocious, blood-crazed predators.

Edward's family members, Dr Carlisle (Facinelli), Esme (Reaser), Alice (Greene), Jasper (Rathbone), Emmett (Lutz) and Rosalie (Reed), prepare for battle.

This fast-paced romp should delight ardent fans and draw in newcomers with briskly edited action sequences.

The menage a trois generates the film's dramatic momentum, leading to tears and tantrums as the enormity of the situation becomes apparent. Eclipse neatly sets the scene for the heartache of the final film, Breaking Dawn, scheduled for release in two parts in 2011 and 2012.

Enjoy scent-sationally fragrant summer days

Scent comes into its own when you're sitting outside on a balmy summer evening, taking in all the delicious fragrances the garden has to offer.

I have two neighbours to thank for the sweet scent of mock orange which fills the air in my own garden – the fragrance wafting quite a distance from where these flowering shrubs are actually planted.

There are fragrant plants for every garden throughout the year, from winter-flowering jasmine and mahonia to hyacinths, scented narcissus and viburnum in the spring, and summer-flowering lavender, rosemary, honeysuckle, roses, evening primrose, dianthus, nicotiana and stocks.

It's worth noting that the most strongly scented flowers are often white, or insignificant in appearance, but make their presence felt when you sniff the air.

While flowers tend to have sweet, heady perfumes, leaf scents tend to be spicy.

by Hannah Stephenson

Many plants with scented foliage need gentle stroking or pinching to release their perfume. It's likely that the scents evolved as a deterrent to insect pests, but gardeners love them.

New research from PlantforLife, an advice resource created by the Horticultural Trades Association, reveals 63 per cent of people in the UK purchase floral and herbal scented products to enhance their health and well-being yet, when asked, just 32 per cent realised the plants they grow in the garden can provide the same effects.

To address this lack of awareness and promote the benefits floral and herbal scents provide, PlantforLife has joined forces with aromacologist, Daniele Ryman, and celebrity plantsman Chris Collins, to show people how to give their garden a simple and healthy-scented makeover.

"Although colour is an important part of any outdoor space, introducing different scents into your garden is essential to creating your perfect outdoor haven," says Chris. "Having beautifully scented plants outside not only means you can reap the health benefits, but planting a scented garden is a great way to help the environment and attract wildlife, like bees, back into your garden."

Roses are believed to have a calming fragrance which can help ease nerves.

"When planting roses, consider the look and feel of what you would like to achieve, from creating excellent focal points to framing certain areas of your garden," he adds.

Lavender is well known for relieving stress, helping relaxation and aiding sleep. It is best planted in numbers, makes an ideal low hedge in the traditional cottage garden and doesn't need really rich soil. However, it will need plenty of sun.

Lily-of-the-valley, whose scent helps combat tiredness, only grows to 45cm and is ideally planted in moist shade under trees to make an effective ground cover.

The Greeks used the herb rosemary to improve their concentration, but it is also known to be an energiser, and will thrive in sandy soil in a sunny position. Water it well in its first season and after that it should become reasonably drought-resistant.

Scented climbers can also add more atmosphere and romance to a garden, whether cottage or modern in style. Among the most popular climbing plants with fragrant blooms are Clematis montana var. rubens 'Elizabeth', 'Jasminum officinale' and 'Wisteria floribunda'.

Fragrance is at its highest when it's calm, so place scented plants in a sheltered spot away from the wind. Indeed, perfume is best captured on a patio, so make sure your pots or nearby beds are awash with a range of fragrant blooms to make the most of those delicious scents in the summer months.

BEST OF THE BUNCH

Astilbe

This favourite perennial brings colour and texture to the semi-shaded border with its feathery plumes – in colours ranging from creamy-white through lilac and pink to red – rising above neat mounds of deeply cut foliage in summer.

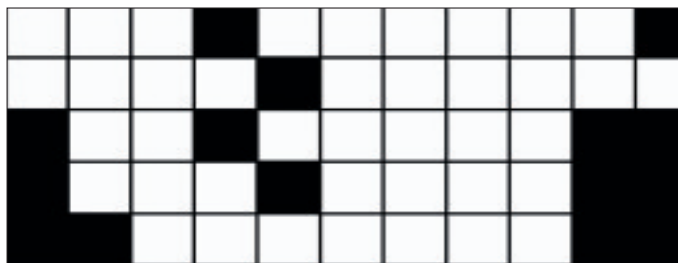

The wispy plumes can also be left for winter interest. Astilbes, however, do need moist, lightly shaded soil to thrive – they are ideally planted in woodland locations between shrubs or by a pond – and can make good groundcover plants too. While most like boggy ground, A. chinensis 'Pumila' and A. 'Superba' can cope with drier soils and can tolerate sun, but you'll need to keep the ground moist by mulching. They make good companions planted between shade-loving foliage plants such as hostas and Rodgersias.

Astra sales lift new car outlook

NEW car sales sped ahead again last month – rising 10.8 per cent compared with June 2009, it was announced this week.

A rise of more than 25 per cent in fleet sales helped new registrations to total 195,226 in June 2010, the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said.

The June figure took the January-June 2010 new-car total to 1,108,662 – a 19.9 per cent rise on the first half of last year when the motor industry was deep in recession.

SMMT chief executive Paul Everitt said: “The new car market continued to perform above expectations in June.

“The results indicate improved business confidence and a strengthening economic recovery. The industry still expects challenging economic conditions in the second half of the year and Government action to improve access to credit for consumers and businesses will be important in sustaining the momentum of recovery.”

June 2010 was the 12th successive month that new registrations have risen, following 15 months of falls.

But although sales were higher than the SMMT had originally forecast, last month's total was still 8.5 per cent below the 1999-2009 average for the month of June.

The SMMT expects sales to dip by the end of this year as the Government's car scrappage scheme – which boosted registrations in the second half of 2009 – has now ended.

Last month was a triumph for Vauxhall which ousted Ford as the top-selling manufacturer, with its Astra model knocking the Ford Fiesta off the top of the best-selling model table.

This is the first time the Astra has taken the number one spot since February 2008.

These were the top-selling models in June 2010:

1. Vauxhall Astra
2. Vauxhall Corsa
3. Ford Fiesta
4. Ford Focus
5. Nissan Qashqai
6. Mini
7. Volkswagen Golf
8. BMW 3 Series
9. Vauxhall Insignia
10. Volkswagen Polo

Bugatti smashes landspeed record for production cars

ON a beautiful sunny day at 25 degrees the Bugatti Veyron 16.4 Super Sport achieved a new landspeed world record for production cars, on the proving grounds of the Volkswagen Group at Ehra-Lessien (nearby its headquarters at Wolfsburg).

In the presence of the German Technical Inspection Agency (TÜV) and a representative of Guinness Book of Records the Super Sport achieved an average top speed of 268mph.

The speed took even Bugatti's engineering team by surprise. “We took it that we would reach an average value of 264mph,” explains

Bugatti's chief engineer Dr. Wolfgang Schreiber, “but the conditions today were perfect and allowed even more.”

The Super Sport gets to 62mph in the same 2.5 seconds as the standard Veyron.

The Bugatti Veyron: 268mph is a new world record.

The original Veyron – which had held the world record until 2007 with a 253mph top speed – still has the same 8.0-litre, 16-cylinder engine.

However, its four turbochargers have been tweaked and larger intercoolers added, thereby raising the Veyron's power output from 1,001bhp to 1,200bhp.

The Veyron has also now got an all-carbon fibre shell, thereby reducing weight.

Meeting the requirements of young families: The all-new Kia Sportage.

All-new Sportage on sale August 1

THE all-new Kia Sportage crossover, one of the stars of the 2010 Geneva Motor Show, is to go on sale in the UK earlier than expected, on 1 August, with a high specification Sportage First Edition version.

The full line-up of the all-new Sportage, including two wheel drive, petrol and additional diesel versions, will go on sale in the UK from November, however early production of RHD all-wheel-drive 2.0-litre diesel models means that eager British customers will not have to wait long to get into Kia's latest stunningly designed model.

The Sportage First Edition is a unique version that comes complete with all-wheel drive, a choice of manual or automatic transmissions and an efficient common-rail turbodiesel engine. The 2.0-litre CRDi engine emits just 156g/km CO2 and achieves a combined cycle economy of 47.1 mpg – an impressive 31g/km less and 7.3mpg more respectively than the outgoing model.

Available in a choice of five colours – including the striking Techno Orange – the First Edition comes as standard with a comprehensive high-end specification including a full leather interior, dual zone climate control, automatic rain-sensing wipers, LED daytime running lights and 18-inch alloy wheels.

Full details on the all-new Sportage First Edition will be available on July 20.

Details from EMG Motor Group on (01223) 472000.

Chris Vince: Looking on the bright side.

Unkind cut for Vince

CHRIS Vince, the Haverhill club's junior captain, may have been battered by the weather but still found competing in the Scottish Junior under-16 Boys' Open a rewarding experience.

He did not make the cut for the final day of the 54-hole championship at Auchterarder, Perthshire after finding himself tied for 16th place following an opening round three-over-par 72 completed in blustery conditions.

However, the weather worsened on the second day and his round of 79 left Vince 13 over par for the tournament – just one shot adrift of the cut.

Vince said: "The second day was horrendous. The weather conditions really deteriorated in the afternoon but, overall, it was a good experience for me and will help with my preparation for future national events."

If there was any further consolation to take from the event, it was that his playing partner on the first day, Switzerland's Remo Fueg, won by a shot, firing 70, 67, and 71 to pip Scotland's Bradley Neil.

■ Haverhill's Seniors clawed their way back to beat the ladies in the Alfa Romeo Shield. After losing the first seven matches, they hit back to win 10-8.

■ A sparkling nett 66 from Marian Mercer gave her a five-shot victory in the ladies' medal and she has had her handicap reduced by three shots to 26. Denise Walker was second with 71 followed by ladies' captain Sally Price (nett 74).

■ Pat Wellstead hit a hole-in-one playing in a society match at Bury St Edmunds, holing her tee-shot on the par-three, 142-yard 13th with a five wood.

■ Howard Ward won the R Woolmer Greens Trophy on countback after a stunning round of 79-16-63. He pipped Mark Barrett (77-14-63) and both have had their handicaps reduced by two shots.

Bryan Graham was third with 83-18-65 and has had his handicap reduced by one, while Colin Rudge scored an ace on the par-three, 184 yard 16th using a five iron.

■ The top three in the ladies' captain's day event all finished on the same nett score, 68.

Top spot on countback, though, went to Linda Bugg with 87-19-68 from Gerrie Wheatley with 92-24-68 and Catie Heathfield 93-25-68.

The stableford competition was won by Sheila Playle (32pts) on countback from Carol Day with Jo Stokes third on 26pts.

■ Richard Peck, David Peck, and vice-captain Keith Brown came out top in the ladies' captain's day competition, which was played in stableford format.

They scored 85 points to pip Gordon Price, Malcolm Klinge and Del Thomas (83pts) with Liam Merritt, Stephen Boyles and Paul Loomes third.

■ Dennis Harkness, the club's vice-president, went close to taking the top prize in the Seniors Open at Cambridge Menzies on Monday.

He fired 74-8-66 to finish with the same nett score as the winner but lost on countback. He has now had his handicap reduced by two shots to six.

Horseheath stunner

HORSEHEATH have suffered a double setback in their Adams Harrison Midweek League campaign.

Their ever-present status in the league's top flight looks to be coming to an end after a crushing defeat by leaders Sawston.

And they were beaten by league new boys Saffron Walden in the final of the AH Cup, Walden's skipper Joe Barrs earning the man of the match award with an unbeaten 64 while Steve Marsh chipped in with 4 for 40 to keep the reply in check.

The Division One defeat, though, leaves Horseheath in a perilous position. With Dan Goldsmith making 43, they reached 124 for 7 against an attack inspired by Sean Savage, who took four wickets.

However, Ben Benson hit an unbeaten 65 to get Sawston home at 129 for 4 with five overs in hand.

Brockley are also in the mire after they fell short of Weston Colville's 146 for 7 despite the efforts of Joe Reed and James McKinney.

Reed took 3 for 20 as Weston Colville, bolstered by 39 from Charl Swanepoel and 29 from both Adam Taylor and Peter Bragg, reached 146 for 7. In response, Reed made 51 and McKinney 36 but they got their side no closer than 133.

In Division 3B, Abington II put some daylight between themselves and bottom-of-the-table Babraham II with a comprehensive victory.

They scored 169 for 5 (Vic Sharma 42, Matt Norman 35 and James Lawrence 34) and then restricted Babraham to 90 for 7.

■ The league cup final will be a repeat of last year's showdown, defending champions Castle Manor taking on Hundon at

Cricket

Haverhill CC on Tuesday (6pm). Manor gave themselves the chance of revenge by beating Gestingthorpe with a strong all-round display.

Steve Lanceman (4 for 14) and Giles Patterson (4 for 33) did the damage as Gestingthorpe scored 108 in reply to Manor's 128 for 5 which was built on Ben Piper's 43, 33 from Jason Ketteridge and Andy Edwards' 25.

And despite 34 from Lee Phillips, Great Yeldham struggled against Hundon's Matt Holt (3 for 28) and Adrian Baker (3 for 29) and could only reach 113 for 9 chasing 167 for 7.

■ John Woodgate took seven wickets and hit 95 as Babraham inflicted a 158-run defeat on Weston Colville in Division Two of the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League.

Woodgate's performance held the Babraham innings together and, combined with an unbeaten 49 from Steve Smith, helped the total on to 248 for 9.

Charl Swanepoel took 4 for 45 for Colville.

Woodgate then did the damage with the ball as Colville were bundled out for just 90. Swanepoel was their top scorer on 34.

■ Gary Ellis terrorised Kimbolton & Catworth's middle and lower order as Horseheath recorded a 64-run home win in Division One of the Cricket Stick CCA Senior League.

The former captain claimed 6 for 21 from 5.3 overs as the visitors were skittled for a lowly 84 with Ben Piper (3 for 14) also wreaking havoc.

Steve Lanceman (28), skipper Dan Goldsmith (24) and Mick Ketteridge (22) had earlier helped Horseheath post 148 all out.

HAVERHILL'S promotion aspirations face another severe test on Saturday against the side that ousted them from Division Two's top spot in the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

They travel to Ipswich, who stormed back into pole position after romping to a six-wicket win at Hadleigh while Haverhill were toiling to a two-wicket success against Easton.

Set 145 to win, the former leaders scraped in at 146 for 8 against a side at the other end of the table.

■ When the first ball of their Division Six game at Bury St Edmunds III was despatched for four by a home batsman,

Another test for Haverhill

Haverhill II knew they were in for a long, hot afternoon.

And, although, both openers were back in the pavilion with 40 on the board, the visitors were put to the sword by Thearle, who hammered 121, and Nunn (65) who set their side on the way to 285 for 7. Dan Webb took 3 for 86 and Nural Hoque 2 for 64 while smart catches from Phil Jones, Tom Saville, Joey Kettle and wicketkeeper Jason Ketteridge kept the score down.

However, any hopes Haverhill had of a successful pursuit were soon in tatters after losing both openers cheaply.

Greg Street (31) and Phil Jones (22) led the recovery and, when they fell Liam Savage (49) and Ketteridge (40), tried to keep in touch with a rising run rate.

They fell short by 80 runs but did manage to claw back a fifth bonus point against a side judged to be the strongest they have faced this season.

Woodley ends drought

AN inspirational spell of bowling from skipper Joe Woodley helped Haverhill to their first Hunts County Bats Suffolk League, Division One victory of the season on Sunday.

He took 5 for 30 as Walsham le Willows were restricted to 154, Simon Youngs bowling his 10 overs straight off to finish with 3 for 21.

In reply, Simon Youngs (30) and Steven Fox took Haverhill to 60 for 0 and, when they fell, Luke Youngs (32) and Phillips constructed a 60-run partnership to lift their side to 115 for 2 with a devastating array of cover and back-foot drives.

It was left to Dingley (14 not out) and Sharpe (15 not out) to see Haverhill home with three overs to spare. The Sunday seconds also won, thanks to six good catches at Risby.

Batting first, Haverhill made 204 for 7, with Sam Hartshorn (49) and Ben Wilkins (33) giving them a good start which was continued by Chris Thompson (36) and Tom Saville (28).

Risby's reply leaned on 28 from Thomas, but once he was brilliantly run out by Tom Saville, they tried to match the run-rate and lost wickets regularly.

Steve Saville led the way with three victims, with Liam Botten and Tom Saville taking two apiece as Risby slumped to 161.

Betts in league fear

>> Football

PETER Betts believes his Haverhill Rovers team could be in for an early-season struggle.

Delays over getting the club's new pitch ready have disrupted their preparations for the Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign.

Rovers were due to move into their new home at the New Croft during the summer but as the pitch is not yet ready the club have had to cancel home friendlies against Ipswich Town and Sudbury.

Rovers will have to wait until August 1 before they can play their first match and Betts admitted being frustrated by the situation. "We should have had three friendlies by now," he said. "Not only has it disrupted our preparations, it's also killed our revenue."

"I fear it's going to have an effect on our start to the season."

"We're not going to be quite as sharp as I would have liked us to be."

Rovers' first pre-season friendly is at Halstead on Tuesday with other away games lined up at Royston (July 24), Cambridge University Press (July 29) and Cornard (July 31).

Their first home game will be against Needham Market on August 3, with their first league match against Walsham-le-Willows at home four days later, although the full league fixture list will not be released until Monday.

Despite the pre-season problems, Betts has been delighted with how the players have responded. New signings include defender Greg Strong, from Saffron Walden, and midfielders Joe Boreham and Jack Higgs.

"Training has gone very well. The attitude of the players has been excellent," said Betts.

Rovers have also discovered they are at home to Hadleigh in the first preliminary round of the FA Cup (August 14) and will take on Northampton Spencer in the first qualifying round of the FA Vase (September 4).

CASTLE Manor stretched their run of success by clinching the Suffolk Schools Championship at Woodbridge College.

The victory capped an incredible year for the Haverhill school's under-15 side, who have dropped only three sets in all competitions.

In searing temperatures, Manor dug deep and produced their best tennis of the season to defeat Debenham High School 5-1 and Woodbridge College 4-2 in the final.

>> Tennis

Steve Smith, of the David Lloyd Centre in Cambridge who has recently coached students on a Castle Manor sports initiative, said: "It's a massive achievement to win the county championships given the amount of schools in Suffolk. It shows how much work the boys have put in to improve their game, playing both singles and doubles."

>> Champions: The Castle Manor side of James Willett, Cameron Gray, James Cuthbert and Ross Tobin.
